

Privacy Policy

Version 1: Current as at 01/03/2020

1. Overview and purpose

North Coast Dermatology respects your rights to privacy and takes our privacy obligations seriously. We comply with the Australian Privacy Principles, found under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) 'Privacy Act' and its amendments, and the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002 (NSW) (referred to as privacy legislation).

When you first register as a patient, our new patient Privacy Consent form requests your consent so that we can collect, use, hold and share your personal information in order to provide you with the best possible healthcare and to allow us to manage our practice. If we intend to use your personal information for any other purpose, we will seek your consent first.

This privacy policy explains:

- how we manage your personal information (including your health information), including the collection, use, disclosure, quality and security of your personal information.
- the kinds of information we collect and how that information is held;
- the purposes for which we collect, hold, use and disclose personal information;
- how you can access your personal information and how you can request to correct such information; and
- how you can complain about a breach of your privacy and how we will handle your complaint.

If you have any queries, concerns or feedback regarding our Privacy Policy, please do not hesitate to contact us

In this Privacy Policy, we use the terms:

"Personal information" as defined in the Privacy Act. This means:

"information or an opinion about an identified individual, or an individual who is reasonably identifiable:

- whether the information or opinion is true or not; and
- whether the information or opinion is recorded in a material form or not";

"Health information" as defined in the Privacy Act. This is a subset of "personal information" and means information or an opinion about:

- the health or a disability (at any time) of an individual;
- an individual's expressed wishes about the future provision of health services to him or her; or
- a health service provided or to be provided to an individual.

Personal information also includes “sensitive information” which is information such as your race, religion, political opinions, sexual preferences and/or “health information”. Information which is “sensitive information” attracts a higher privacy standard under the Privacy Act and is subject to additional mechanisms for your protection.

We, Us, Our, shall mean:

1. North Coast Dermatology
2. Employed, contracted and independent medical and healthcare practitioners who practice from our rooms.

North Coast Dermatology is a private medical practice that specialises in dermatology. We provide management, administrative, facilities and nursing services to independent medical/healthcare practitioners who run their own independent business from our practice. These practitioners have agreed to fall under and abide by our Privacy Policy and framework.

2. Collection of personal information

North Coast Dermatology collects information which is necessary to provide you with healthcare services and to appropriately manage and conduct our business. This includes collecting personal information such as your name and contact details, medical history, family history, past and current treatments, lifestyle factors and any other information which is necessary to assist us in providing you appropriate care. We will also collect your Medicare number and health fund details (where applicable).

You have the right to deal with us anonymously or under a pseudonym unless it is impracticable for us to do so or unless we are required or authorised by law to only deal with identified individuals. It is important to be aware that if you provide incomplete or inaccurate information or withhold information we may not be able to provide you with healthcare services.

North Coast Dermatology will usually collect your personal information directly from you, including from patient consent forms, medical records and consultations with you, or from another health service provider. Sometimes we need to collect information about you from third parties where the Privacy Act or other law allows it - this may include, but is not limited to: relatives, friends and other people responsible for you, other members of your treating team, diagnostic centres, specialists, hospitals, the My Health Record system, electronic prescription services, Medicare, your private health insurer, and the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme.

We will only collect information from third parties where:

- you have consented to such collection; or
- such collection is necessary to enable us to provide you with appropriate healthcare services (such as emergency medical treatment or where your health is at risk);
- such collection is reasonably necessary to enable us to appropriately manage and conduct our business; or
- it is legally permissible for us to do.

Medical photography

With your consent, we utilise photographs to assist in your health care. These include total body photographs, clinical photographs and dermoscopic photographs. These photographs form part of your legal medical record.

3. How we use your personal information

North Coast Dermatology only uses your personal information to provide you with healthcare services or to enable us to appropriately manage and conduct our business, unless:

- there is a secondary purpose which directly relates to the primary purpose, and you would reasonably expect, or North Coast Dermatology has informed you, that your information will be used for that secondary purpose, or you have given your consent for your personal information to be used for a secondary purpose;
- the disclosure of your information is necessary for the enforcement of criminal law or a law imposing a penalty or sanction, or for the protection of public revenue;
- the disclosure of your information will prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to somebody's life or health; or,
- North Coast Dermatology is required or authorised by law to disclose your information for another purpose.

In general, North Coast Dermatology will collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information for the following purposes:

- to provide health services to you
- to communicate with you in relation to the health service being provided to you
- to comply with our legal obligations, including, but not limited to, mandatory notification of communicable diseases or mandatory reporting under applicable child protection legislation.
- to help us manage our accounts and administrative services, including billing, arrangements with health funds, pursuing unpaid accounts, management of our ITC systems
- for consultations with other doctors and allied health professional involved in your healthcare;
- to obtain, analyse and discuss test results from diagnostic and pathology laboratories
- for identification and insurance claiming
- If you have a My Health Record, to upload your personal information to, and download your personal information from, the My Health Record system.
- To liaise with your health fund, government and regulatory bodies such as Medicare, the Department of Veteran's Affairs and the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) (if you make a privacy complaint to the OAIC), as necessary.
- for research, audit, quality assurance, teaching and education, in order to improve current methods of diagnosis and treatment. Only de-identified information is utilised for these purposes.

4. Disclosing your personal information

North Coast Dermatology may disclose your personal information to our employees, contractors and service providers in order for us to provide healthcare services to you and to allow us to manage our business. We will also disclose your personal information to healthcare professionals directly involved in your treatment. Where your medical records are required in the case of a medical emergency, we will provide these to the relevant medical professional without waiting for your consent, where we believe this is in your interests.

Your personal information may also be provided to third parties if we are legally obliged to do so by a court subpoena, statutory authority, search warrant, coronial summons or to defend a legal action.

We may provide your personal information to third parties involved in your care, such as:

- your parents, children, relatives and close friends, guardians or a person exercising a power of attorney or enduring power of attorney. Please advise us if it is your wish no third party as stated is to have access to your personal information;
- government departments and agencies, such as Defence or Department of Veterans Affairs, or departments responsible for health, aged care and disability where we are required to do so;
- private health insurers and Medicare Australia;
- anyone authorised by you to receive your personal information

North Coast Dermatology engages the following third party service providers who assist us in delivering our services to you:

- Gentu electronic medical record system
- Medical Objects secure messaging system
- HealthLink secure messaging system
- Dragon Medical One dictation software

We undertake and participate in research studies. We will always request your written permission to be involved in such research before we release any personal information to third party researchers.

5. Overseas recipients

North Coast Dermatology does not engage with any overseas entities or persons where your personal information will be transferred, stored or disclosed. Should we wish to transfer your personal information overseas, for example to international experts, we will ask for your consent before we do so.

6. Data storage, quality and security

We strive to maintain the reliability, accuracy, completeness and currency of the personal information we hold and to protect its privacy and security. All personal information, whether stored as a hard copy or in electronic form is protected from unauthorised access, misuse, interference, loss, modification or disclosure. Some of the steps we take to ensure your personal information is secure include:

- We maintain physical security over our paper and electronic data and premises
- Access to personal information is restricted on a 'need to know basis'
- Our staff are trained on privacy and we have detailed internal processes and systems to protect your privacy

- Our staff sign confidentiality agreements
- Holding your information on an encrypted database
- Holding your information in secure cloud storage
- Holding your information in a lockable cabinet
- Our practice has document retention and destruction policies
- We conduct regular risk management reviews

Our website and email is linked to the internet. No data transfer over the internet is 100% secure. Accordingly, any information which you transmit to us online or via email is transmitted at your own risk.

7. Destroying your personal information

Subject to applicable laws, North Coast Dermatology may destroy records containing personal information when the record is no longer required by North Coast Dermatology.

It is likely your medical records held by us contain sensitive information. We are required to abide by relevant legislation in the retention and disposal of your medical records.

8. Accessing and amending your personal information

We encourage you to contact us if you have a query regarding your personal information. You may request an amendment to your personal information if you consider that it contains inaccurate, incorrect or incomplete information.

You have a right to request access to any information we hold about you. If you make a request to access personal information that you are entitled to access, we will provide you suitable means of accessing it. We will not charge you for making the request. In circumstances where you request we provide a copy of your personal information to you, we may charge you a fee to cover our reasonable costs for complying with the request for access.

There may be instances where we cannot grant you access to some of the information we hold. For example, we may need to refuse access if granting access would interfere with the privacy of others. If that is the case, we will provide you with a written explanation of those reasons.

You can contact us about any privacy issues as follows:

9. Participation in research and clinical trials

North Coast Dermatology actively participates in medical research and clinical trials. Clinical trial activity undergoes approval by an Ethics Committee.

We will always request your permission to be involved in such research before we release any personal information to third party researchers. Your clinician will explain the purpose of the research or trial and ask that you sign a consent form before you can participate.

We may use your de-identified health information for research and audit purposes, in order to improve diagnosis and treatment of melanoma and related conditions.

10. Complaints

If you have a complaint about how we have dealt with your personal information or believe we have breached your privacy, please contact us on the details below so that we may investigate it. We will deal with your complaint fairly and confidentially. On receipt of your complaint we will contact you within 10 business days to confirm what investigation action will occur. We will then communicate the outcome to you in writing and invite a response to our conclusion about the complaint. If we receive a response from you, we will also assess it and advise if we have changed our view.
